Fear Higher Prices Soon

Payrollers Seek To Stay Controls Kill

Washington, June 21—(AP)—Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam said today lifting of price controls from consumer goods would cause costs to soar so sharply that present prices would "look like bargains."

Price Administrator Ellis Arnall agreed with Putnam that such a move by Congress would make the controls law a "monstrosity" and "completely unworkable."

Arnall told a meeting of the eastern labor press conference he would recommend that "we do away with price controls entirely" if the decontrol amendment passed tentatively by the House yesterday becomes law.

Putnam in a statement earlier accused the House of a "to-hell-with-the-consumer attitude" for approving the amendment by Rep. Talle (R-Iowa) to exempt from price controls all items and commodities not rationed or allocated.

This covers nearly all things housewives buy, as there is no rationing at present, and only a very few items—such as scarce metals—are allocated.

Seeks Vote Change

In his sharply-worded statement, Putnam expressed hope the lawmakers would change their minds—and their votes—when they resume action next week on the Defense Production Act designed to extend wage, price, rent and other controls.

Arnall told the labor press conference he feels the House will not adopt the amendment because he did not think the congressmen fully understood that passage of the Talle amendment would mean "the end of controls."

The House voted 146 to 88—many, particularly administration supporters, were absent at the time—to pass the Talle amendment.

Up Wednesday

First big vote on the administration's ripped and tattered controls extension bill when it comes up Wednesday is expected to be on the amendment requesting President Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley law injunction proceedings in the steel strike. The Senate wrote a similar request into its version of the extension law, but did not ask for lifting of price controls.

However, the House could again bring up the amendments it voted Friday—another was to sharply reorganize the Wage Stabilization Board so that it would have no power to intervene in labor disputes—and this is what Putnam advocated today.

Gas Company Men Get 168 Miles Per Gallon

Wood River, Ill., June 21—(AP)—Two Shell Oil Company chemists nursed a record 168.49 miles per gallon of gasoline with a "souped up" 1942 model automobile in the firm's annual mileage marathon today.

The chemists, Dave Berry and Fred Schutte, admitted what they did wouldn't be wise for the ordinary motorist.

They put 110 pounds of air in tires from which the tread had been filed, put a racing car body on the chassis, removed the fan belt, blocked the radiator grill and stepped up the compression ratio of the four-cylinder engine. They kept their speed at 20 miles an hour or less, coasting where possible.

The previous record on the 12-mile course was 149.95 miles, set in 1949.

CAN'T BE TWO PLACES AT ONCE. CLAIMS SPEEDER

Davenport, Ia., June 21—(AP)—Robert C. Stoney, 32, of Moline was arrested tonight by Davenport policeman Roger Reisman for speeding.

Reisman said he handed Stoney an arrest slip ordering him to report to court at 10 a.m. Monday. Stoney said he couldn't make it, that he already had a speeding ticket received today to report to the Moline court at 9 a.m. Monday, five miles away.

Reisman said, "I didn't want the man to speed from one court to another. So I changed his court appearance until Tuesday and told him to take his time."

In the Los Angeles area, instead of giving cows wide pastures in which to graze, herds are sometimes kept in city limits and their feed is shipped in from farms farther away, says the National Geographic Society.

Taft Claims Enough Votes To Win

Washington, June 21—(AP)—Senator Taft of Ohio, expressing confidence today that he will win the Republican presidential nomination, said he has "just about 603 or 604 votes."

Taft declared, however, that strategy will determine whether all of these votes are cast for him on the first ballot. He indicated a decision might be made to hold some back.

The camp of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower immediately branded Taft's remarks as "the most ludicrous of this campaign."

Wes Roberts, executive director of national Eisenhower headquarters, said in a statement that "the public can be sure that whatever delegate strength Taft has will be used as soon as it can be mustered."

He contended that Taft, by talking about holding back votes, was attempting to avoid embarrassment when the first ballot is taken. He said the Taft strength will "fall far below their blown-up claims."

At his news conference, Taft held out the olive branch to Eisenhower on foreign policy and in the dispute over Texas presidential nominating delegates. He assumed something of the role of a peacemaker in party affairs.

June's Heat Cost St. Louis Area Several Millions

St. Louis, June 21—(AP)—The June heat wave, which sent the thermometer over 90 for the 17th straight day, has caused several million dollars of damage, it was estimated today.

Lowell O. Burns, director of the agricultural bureau of the metropolitan St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, said much of the damage is being suffered in forage crops, with lespezeas, an annual legume important in Missouri and southern Illinois, severely injured in the seedling stage.

Burns blamed lack of rain for the damage. The temperature reached 96 today and the weather bureau saw no immediate relief.

A drenching 1.47 inches of water fell in St. Louis yesterday—the first substantial rain here this month.

Weatherman Harry Wahlgrin said the rain was local and did not ease drought conditions in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri.

"Hay and pasture crops are in short supply locally," Burns said, "and distressed cattle are starting to come to market."

"Drought damage to crops will reduce local farm income from crops and livestock by millions of dollars."

Seek To Destroy Gambling Devices Seized In Tazewell

Pekin, Ill., June 21—(AP)—Permission to destroy 27 coin-operated gambling devices seized by state police was sought today in a court petition by George Donaldson, state's attorney of Tazewell county.

County Judge Ivan Yontz set 2 p.m. Tuesday for hearing of the petition.

The machines were picked up Friday by 24 state policemen in raids on 19 restaurants and taverns in East Peoria, Tremont, Creve Coeur and rural areas of Tazewell county.

Donaldson said he plans to charge the owners of the places where machines were seized with possession and operation of gambling devices.

Lattimore 'Thinking' About British Tour

Washington, June 21—(AP)—An investigation into the plans of Owen Lattimore, which the Far Eastern specialist said today do not include any trip behind the iron curtain, is being pressed by the government in the wake of its order slamming the country's exit gates to him.

The state department announced late yesterday that it had ordered customs exits barred to Lattimore while it looks into a tip, which it said came from an official source, that he was planning a visit to Russia or her satellites.

At his home in Baltimore, Lattimore said there was no truth in "none whatsoever"—in any such reports. The state department itself had said the tip was unconfirmed, and it gave no additional clues as to its origin.

Order Stands

The order barring Lattimore's departure from this country, it was learned from reliable sources, will stand until the inquiry has been completed. That may come within a week.

What will be done about the ban then—whether it will be removed or whether some other kind of ruling will be made—is something that officials declined to comment on today.

300 Convicts Escape Island

Desperadoes Kill Guards; 22 Retaken

Sao Paulo, Brazil, June 21—(AP)—Police fought a blazing gun battle today and recaptured 22 of the nearly 300 desperate, heavily armed convicts who escaped in stolen boats from their island prison after killing 15 guards and civilian employees.

The prison doctor and a radio operator died of wounds later.

Among the captured was the notorious criminal, the "Blond Devil," a leader in the break from Anchieta island yesterday. One convict was killed and another wounded in the battle near the coastal town of Ubatuba.

The prisoners, about three fourths of the island's prison population of 400, overpowered their guards, seized machineguns and rifles from a depot, and dashed for the mainland three-tenths of a mile away. There they landed and struck terror in the small towns of Ubatuba, Sao Vicente and Caraguatuba, about 160 miles south of this Brazilian state capital.

Federal troops, air force planes and navy boats were rushed to the area. The police chief at Caraguatuba reported his men had clashed with one band of convicts and called for reinforcements. Details of the fighting there were lacking.

The biggest group of prisoners, about 200, was reported fleeing toward Parati northward from Ubatuba, a small port town of 1,000. Airforce planes tried to track them.

The prison revolt started shortly after noon yesterday among 70 prisoners cutting firewood. They suddenly overpowered five armed guards. Taking the guards' guns, the wildly yelling convicts stormed the prison gun depot. There they grabbed six light and four heavy machineguns and 80 rifles as well as twenty thousand rounds of ammunition.

Thus equipped, the convicts quickly overcame the remainder of Anchieta island's garrison of 40 men and freed all prisoners who wanted to make the break for freedom. The prison's director, Sadi Ferreira, and the chief of guards, Lt. Oswaldo Silva, were locked up.

J. W. Wadsworth, Former Senator, Dies In New York

Washington, June 21—(AP)—James W. Wadsworth, former U. S. senator and representative from New York, died tonight at the age of 74. He headed the commission which drew up plans for universal military training.

Wadsworth died in Emergency hospital. He had suffered from an abdominal ailment for months. He underwent surgery in September, 1951, for the illness.

Wadsworth, a Republican, was the third man in American history to become a member of the U. S. House after service in the Senate. The others were John Quincy Adams, the sixth president, and the late Theodore Burton of Ohio. As a lawmaker he showed a continuing and intense interest in national defense. He was generally regarded as the one man who most persuaded the House a few months before Pearl Harbor to vote for draft legislation.

He retired from Congress in 1950 after two terms in the Senate and nine in the House.

President Truman later picked him to head the National Security Training Commission which, on October 28, 1951, came up with a blueprint for compulsory military training for American youth.

The commission had been formed the previous June, after Congress had approved the principle, but not the details, of UMT. This year, the Senate approved a UMT bill along the lines of what the Wadsworth commission had recommended, but the House voted to send it back to committee for further study.

Wadsworth was the father of James J. Wadsworth, deputy administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration. Other survivors are the widow, the former Alice Hay; one daughter, Mrs. W. Stuart Symington, wife of the former chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and a second son, Reverend, of Genesee, N. Y., the family home.

Compromisers Seek To Settle Crisis In Korea Politics

Pusan, Korea, Sunday, June 22—(AP)—Supporters of a compromise plan to settle South Korea's worsening political crisis sought a special meeting of the national assembly today on the eve of the scheduled—but indefinite—presidential election.

Opponents of President Syngman Rhee continued to boycott the assembly, however. They asserted the legislative body—which elects the president—is unable to function freely under the president's martial law and while 11 fellow assemblymen are under arrest.

The constitution provides for the election of a president on or before June 23—one month before the end of the president's four-year term. Rhee's supporters last week shelved a motion declaring July 23 to be the last day of Rhee's term, but there has been no constitutional amendment specifically changing the date.

In a compromise effort, two constitutional amendments were introduced in the assembly Saturday. One would fill Rhee's demands for election of the president by the people rather than by the assembly, and for a two-house national congress instead of the present unicameral body.

Those who are sick but who can do some work must report to the clinic at night, then go to their jobs as usual during the day.

Two Nations Seek U. N. Membership

United Nations, N. Y., June 21—(AP)—Japan and the French-backed Indochina kingdom of Cambodia, both troubled with Communism, are applying for membership in the United Nations. Both are expected to encounter Russian opposition and probably the Soviet big power veto in the Security Council.

The Japanese consul-general in New York, H. Shimazu, said tonight he will hand in Japan's application Monday to acting Secretary-General Guillaume Georges-Picot. Secretary-General Trygve Lie is visiting in Europe.

U. N. sources confirmed reports at the same time that Cambodia, one of the three French-sponsored associated states of Indochina—in the midst of an internal political crisis this week—has made a bid for membership in the 60-nation organization. The sources said the announcement would be made Monday.

Japan's bid was expected but Cambodia's came as a surprise. Early this week Cambodia's 30-year-old French-protected King Norodom Sihanouk Varmen dissolved his cabinet and took powers to himself.

Cambodia has a normal internal intrigue situation resulting from Norodom's elevation to the throne in preference to his uncle, the crown prince, during the Japanese wartime occupation. But the rice-rich and well-fed realm along the Mekong river also is threatened by the Communist-led Vietnamese fighting a do-or-die battle with French-American-aided forces in Indochina.

Sweden rejected angry Swedish protests over the Catalina incident and countered with the claim that the Swedes fired at the Russians first and were over Soviet territory. The Swedes stoutly maintain the Catalina was not armed and at least 15 miles out to sea.

The Swedish foreign office announcement of the query to Russia on the original, June 13, incident of the Douglas plane said instructions had been sent to the Swedish ambassador in Moscow, Rolf Sohlman, to press for a reply.

In the exchanges of protests, Sweden acknowledged to Moscow that one search plane accidentally flew over Russian territory, but quickly departed, and said the Swedes regretted this infringement.

Today's Swedish action made it clear the Swedes are unwilling to regard the Baltic shooting as a recent incident despite Russia's protests and countercharges.

Orders to return fire if attacked have been issued to Swedish air and naval units in the Baltic and still stand. Swedish vessels and planes are continuing their regular training operations in the Baltic, determined to defend their rights in international waters.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, acting Democratic leader, urged McCarran not to press his motion. After considerable jockeying, McCarran won agreement that it will be the first order of business when the Senate returns to work on Monday.

His motion to take up the constitutional amendment must first be approved by the amendment itself is technically up for debate and a vote.

McCarran told reporters after the Senate recessed that he will not yield until he gets a vote on his motion. He said he felt he could get enough votes to bring the amendment before the Senate and the two-thirds vote necessary to pass it.

The proposed constitutional revision is a direct outgrowth of President Truman's seizure of the steel industry.

Although the supreme court ruled the steel seizure unconstitutional, the Senate judiciary committee which McCarran heads said the proposed amendment is designed to eliminate all doubt and all argument over the question of whether the president has any right, inherent or otherwise, to seize an industry, or any other private property, when he has not been authorized to do so by the Congress.

Increased shortages of fresh water for some big cities prompted the allocation for salt water research. These experiments would be undertaken by colleges and research agencies under government contracts over the next five years.

ANTI-TB INOCULATION STARTED

Hong Kong—(AP)—This British crown colony has launched a campaign of inoculation against tuberculosis, which took the lives of 1,028 persons from Jan. 1 to April 3 this year.

President Truman later picked him to head the National Security Training Commission which, on October 28, 1951, came up with a blueprint for compulsory military training for American youth.

The commission had been formed the previous June, after Congress had approved the principle, but not the details, of UMT. This year, the Senate approved a UMT bill along the lines of what the Wadsworth commission had recommended, but the House voted to send it back to committee for further study.

Wadsworth was the father of James J. Wadsworth, deputy administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration. Other survivors are the widow, the former Alice Hay; one daughter, Mrs. W. Stuart Symington, wife of the former chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and a second son, Reverend, of Genesee, N. Y., the family home.

Industry and union leaders gathered in New York Thursday and the government held high hopes at that time that another round of peace talks might result. But the "talks" collapsed before they ever got started. No new ones were scheduled.

Kefauver Aide Assails Tactics

Sullivan Says Stage Is Set For Stevenson

Chicago, June 21—(AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver's campaign manager declared today that Kefauver's opponents have conspired to deadlock the Democratic national convention and give Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois the presidential nomination.

Gael Sullivan, in a radio-television (CBS) address, said Democratic party political bosses are "convinced" in the deal which also would name Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, the vice presidential nominee.

Sullivan said this was all part of a stop-Kefauver drive negotiated in a "smoke-filled room."

The Tennessee senator also spoke over the same network later, expressing confidence that his state-by-state campaign has given him enough support from the American people to win the nomination.

Sullivan's blistering speech, however, said the political bosses "are out to stop the nomination of Estes Kefauver" and that agreements already have been reached on methods.

Methods

"This is the way they hope to do it," Sullivan said. "The backers of Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia have been in conference on this deal and have entered into a conspiracy calculated to deadlock the convention."

"These political bosses have concocted the following plan: They will have Gov. Stevenson throw his support to W. Averell Harriman at the outset. They will have Sen. Russell stay in the race with his delegates. The bosses expect that this will result in a stand-off for the three candidates each with a block of delegates—Sen. Kefauver, Mr. Harriman, and Sen. Russell."

"While Sen. Kefauver will have more delegates than anyone else, no one of the three will have the majority necessary for the nomination. By this maneuver, they hope to stop Estes Kefauver."

Senate To Check On Man's Efforts Concerning Rain

Washington, June 21—(AP)—The Senate voted today to set up a government committee to look into man's efforts to make weather instead of just talking about it.

First item for the committee would be a steaming dispute over whether science actually has learned how to make large doses of rainfall. The Senate also approved another bill providing up to one million dollars to back research on making fresh water out of salt water.

Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel prize winning chemist, said recently that experiments in the southwest proved the success of rainmaking. He said scientists had created a nationwide pattern of rainfall—mostly a series of weekend wettings in the east.

The U. S. Weather Bureau scoffed at these claims. It said the pattern claimed by Dr. Langmuir was just a coincidence—that there was even more of a "pattern" in Europe during the experiments.

The Senate bill would create a committee of nine members to advise Congress on who's right—and whether the federal government should license and regulate attempts to modify the weather.

Increased shortages of fresh water for some big cities prompted the allocation for salt water research. These experiments would be undertaken by colleges and research agencies under government contracts over the next five years.

Both bills now go to the House.

Sees Steel For Defense Production Next Week

Washington, June 21—(AP)—A high administration official predicted today that some steel production for essential defense needs would be resumed within a week.

The government has been working for two weeks on a plan to get partial production going in mills equipped to turn out special, high-alloy steel for top-priority defense uses, such as tanks and bullets.

The job is vastly complicated, however, and production has not started. This official, asking not to be named, told a reporter most of the plants scheduled for re-opening have been selected. He did not name them.

The nation-wide steel strike, now in its 20th day, is costing around 250,000 tons of the defense-vital metal each day. The strike over a new contract by 650,000 CIO steelworkers has already forced idleness of more than 100,000 other workers in steel-using industries.

But administration officials repeated today what they have been saying right along: that President Truman still has not decided whether to use the Taft-Hartley labor law and ask a court to stop the strike for 80 days. The senate, by a top heavy vote, has already requested Truman to do that. And the House, judging by several votes it took late this week on the bill to extend wage and price controls, is considered certain to do the same.

It was reliably learned that some of Truman's advisers are considering another presidential appeal to Congress for a special seizure law which would enable the government to take over the eight billion industry and run it until the CIO steelworkers union and the industry reach a contract agreement.

But Truman has appealed to Congress several times for such a law, once in a personal address. Congress has flatly refused on grounds that the Taft-Hartley law remains available.

INCREASED DIVERSION OF LAKE WATER FOR THE ILLINOIS RIVER SHOULD BE LIMITED TO PREVENT FLOOD DAMAGE

After holding hearings on a proposed bill to increase the diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois River waterway the Committee on Public Works of the House of Representatives has reported the measure back to the whole House with the recommendation that it be passed without amendment. This action was taken over the objections of Congressman Sid Simpson from this district and of Rep. Harold Velde of the Pekin area and Rep. Noah Mason of Joliet.

The proposed bill, known as H.R. 8165, would authorize for a period of three years the State of Illinois and the Sanitary District of Illinois, under the direction of the Secretary of the Army, to help control the lake level of Lake Michigan by withdrawing, in addition to all domestic pumpage, a total annual average of 2,500 cubic feet of water per second to flow into the Illinois waterway. This would permit an increase in diversion of lake water of 1,000 cubic feet per second over the limit of 1,500 cubic feet per second which has been in effect since 1938.

The bill also provides that the Army make a study of the results of increased diversion on the Illinois River and report to Congress on or before January 31, 1955.

Citizens of the Beardstown area, several of whom went to Washington to testify in opposition to any increased diversion, now are seeking to have the bill amended to provide that diversion should be stopped
whenever the river stage at Beardstown reaches 14 feet.
This is a reasonable request. Whenever the river reaches flood stage, diversion of water from Lake Michigan should at least be cut down as much as possible consistent with proper sanitary safeguards.

If the diversion bill is amended to incorporate such a safeguard against floods, it should be passed. Conditions along the river have not been good. In the upper reaches of the river pollution has been a constant, serious problem. Water levels all along the river have fluctuated radically. Heavy silting has taken place in the bays and lakes along the river. Recreation areas which once abounded in fish and game have largely filled up and become mere mudholes.

Based upon exhaustive studies, competent sanitary engineers have recommended that diversion be increased from 1,500 cubic feet per second to 3,500 in order to remedy the pollution problem all the way from Chicago to the Mississippi. While the bill only permits a temporary increase to 2,500 cubic feet it is reasonable to believe that this might greatly improve conditions in the waterway.

At any rate increased diversion is worth a trial run.
Perhaps it will not solve the problem entirely because many other factors, including soil use practices and waste disposal facilities, enter into the picture. But in any event it would give the experts a good opportunity to study the situation and observe the results of an increased flow of Lake Michigan water into the river.

EVERY GIFT HELPS SOMEONE

The Salvation Army's drive to raise $100,000 to finance construction of a new building got off on the right foot Thursday night. The first report meeting put the drive well on its way to achieving its goal. J. R.
Stattman, chairman of the campaign, announced at the meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. that more than $10,000 has been raised already.

The growing success of the campaign is a tribute to the position the local Salvation Army post holds in Jacksonville. It is one of our best loved institutions. Its commander, Major Henri Servais, is among our most popular citizens.

But the post didn't achieve its high position here without cause. Its work for the needy and distressed of the community is a by-word in Jacksonville. The tree of lights, the annual Christmas baskets for the poor, the distressed and the friendless all of these things have put the Salvation Army in a special category in the hearts of every citizen of this community.

It isn't easy to raise $100,000. This is especially true when so many worthy enterprises, local and national, are constantly asking the public for contributions. It is going to take a lot of hard work to put this thing over, as every worker, captain, and major in the campaign is finding out. But it is no accident that the drive already is doing so well. It is a tribute, not merely to the Salvation Army as it exists in every community, it is also a special tribute from the citizens of Jacksonville to its own Army post and to the man who runs it for the unselfish benefit of the poor and the oppressed.

CAUGHT UP

It seemed for a time as though Congress might find itself in a bad legislative jam when it found it necessary to adjourn or recess for the national conventions. Early this month many of the session's most important measures were still in committee or tied up in conference.

The last few days brought a notable change in the calendars. The Mutual Security Program authorizing $6-447,730,750 for foreign military aid, $1,452,270,000 less than President Truman had recommended, was passed by the Senate and sent to the White House.

The Senate also passed the McCarran-Walter bill, which revises and codifies the immigration and naturalization laws and establishes 154,658 as the maximum number of immigrants to be admitted annually. The bill, criticized by left wingers, passed the House 203 to 53.

The two branches of Congress made progress on extension of economic controls. The Senate approved a renewal of the Defense Production Act to June 30, 1953, but voted to continue wage, price and rent controls only until February 28. A House version approved by the Banking and Currency Committee drops real estate and consumer credit controls, but extends all others until June 30, 1953.

Major unfinished business of Congress as a whole are the appropriations bills, most of which are still in committee. The Senate must still pass on the peace and mutual defense contracts with Germany, on which the Foreign Relations Committee is working. In addition to its other chores, Congress found time to hear President
Truman's request for authority to seize the steel mills.
The Senate's reaction was to recommend, 49 to 30, that he invoke the Taft-Hartley Act.

All in all, it was a productive 10 days, the culmination of many weeks of conscientious but generally unspectacular effort behind the scenes by the committees.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

The Sin of Selfishness

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Deep in the heart of humanity,
and in the whole history of mankind, are the capacities for good and evil.

There have been acts of high nobility, sacrifice, and unselfishness
and acts of meanness, rapaciousness, and greed.

Far-off, in the history of the Jewish people, Abraham manifested a magnanimity which through all the centuries shines with glory for its quality and completeness.

In contrast, the same story reveals the unabashed selfishness of Lot,
who did not hesitate to take advantage of Abraham's magnanimity by grasping for himself what he considered the finest watering places and pasture lands.

And deeper still than even Lot's selfishness was the grasping spirit of the man called Achan, who in a time of war and victory, with future
disloyalty, took and hid for himself
what rightly belonged to all.

These instances have a lesson for us in this day in which the spirit and fabric of democracy are being threatened, not only by enemies from without, but also by selfishness from within.
Perhaps I could make these facts
and their lesson somewhat more vivid by using parts of the rhymed
introduction to the Bible I wrote
some time ago for my grandchildren.

NEW YORK (AP)—You've heard
all the stories about Pat and Mike.
Well, this one's about Pat and Ike.
They look alike.

His strong facial resemblance to Gen. Eisenhower has been one long comedy of errors to Reim-an "Pat" Morin, Pulitzer prize-winning reporter for The Associated Press.

It began nine years ago when Pat was first mistaken for Ike, and it has gone on intermittently ever since, as Pat has spent a good part of those years reporting the varied activities of Ike in war and peace.

"I don't see the resemblance myself," said Pat, "but other people do."

The other people include Pat's own wife.

If they are not mistaking Pat for

Ike when they are apart, they mistake Pat for Ike's younger brother,
when the two are at the same event.
Pat is tall, balding and 44. Ike is tall, balding and 62.

The first instance of this "look-alike" trouble cost Pat the annoying outside Bizerte during the tour of the North African battlefield made by the late King George VI in 1943. Pat recalled:

"I was among a group of 8 or 10 reporters assigned to travel in his motorcade. Several of us were in the motor car immediately behind the king's."

"While King George was being greeted by the village officials, a Frenchman in the crowd looked in our car, spotted me, and cried:
'Look, there's General Eisenhower!'"

Part of the crowd began surging excitedly around us. All I could do was scrunched down in the car,
trying to look as small as possible.
I kept saying in French, no, no,
you are mistaken."

"The king, who was a grand guy,
naturally was annoyed at the disturbance. He thought some of us were clowning around during the welcoming ceremony. He spun around and we got the full blast
of a royal frown."

"Later his aides put him straight."

Reclaimed, Paid Off in Full,
Yakima Valley Boasts Riches

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Another big Reclamation district project paid off its debt to the Federal government for irrigation improvements
this week. It is the Sunnyside Valley Irrigation District in the rich
Yakima river country of central Washington.

G. W. Lineweaver, assistant U. S.
Commissioner of Reclamation, went to Sunnyside, Wash., to receive the district's final payment of $21,000.
He witnessed the stamping of "Paid in Full" on an obligation of $2,270-000 first assumed by the farmers of this area 45 years ago.

Most of the stories that get printed about these huge reclamation projects are about the many million of tax dollars that they cost for storage dams and irrigation canals. The fact that the irrigation and electric power aspects of these projects are self-liquidating is generally lost sight of.

It is only when there's a big celebration while one of these projects pay off, as at Sunnyside, that the real nature of these public works shows up. The Yakima projects are paying off with a vengeance.

Five years ago the Tieton division of the project cancelled its indebtedness. Now Sunnyside is clearly paying off the Kennewick, Kit-tatas and Roza divisions to make good on their contracts.

Fifty years ago this Yakima valley country was nothing but sagebrush.
Today as the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation celebrates its golden anniversary, the Yakima valley is a half-million acres of the most fertile far land in America. It is an area two-thirds the size of the state of Rhode Island.

Profits Go As High As $200 An Acre
The average farm in this area is only 50 acres. The fruit farms—where some of the big apples and pears come from—run 25 to 30 acres.
Truck, grain and stock farms run 140 to 150 acres. Yields and profits as high as $200 an acre are common.

In 1910, shortly after the irrigation works were begun, population of Yakima and Benton counties was only 28,000. Today it is 187,000 and still growing.

The experience of one Yakima homesteader may be taken as a typical. In 1947, John H. Burns, his wife and two children settled near Roza in a GI tent they bought for $20. The first year they spent $280—of which $1700 went for machinery—and showed a profit of $250 million.

In 1889 the Northern Pacific Railway formed a company to stimulate immigration in the valley. It failed, and in 1900 a new Washington irrigation company tried again. When Congressman—later Senator—Wesley Jones of Washington pushed through the Yakima project, the government bought out this old company for $250,000. Today it's worth $250 million.

Considering that the area was originally nothing more than desert and dust, it is an amazing record of growth. It was Indian country 125 years ago.

has contributed considerably to the area's boom by providing a ready resources, directly attributable to ir-

FBI Puts Knetzer On List, Asks Public Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The public has been asked to help the FBI find Robert L. Knetzer, accused of fleeing hundreds of customers in a million dollar illegal automobile business.

Knetzer escaped from the Springfield, Ill. city jail four days ago, helped by an accomplice who posed as a United States Marshal.

Knetzer's auto business during the post-war car shortage period was conducted in an alfalfa field at Edwardsville, Ill. The FBI said Knetzer got "huge sums from a car-hungry public as deposits for future auto deliveries." Most of the promises were never kept, the FBI said.

"Wanted" Nation Wide
A nation-wide "Wanted" notice has been issued for Knetzer by the FBI. It warned "Knetzer may be armed and should be considered dangerous."

Charges against Knetzer are contempt of court, perjury, interstate transportation of stolen property, violation of the National Bankruptcy Act, and escape from federal custody. He is six feet tall and weighs 195 pounds. His eyes are brown and his brown hair is wavy," the notice says.

Beat the Heat New Cologne Is Soothing

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Happy summer news! Several leading cosmetic manufacturers have introduced chlorophyll to cologne, and the result is a refreshing, stimulating and fragrant hot weather treat.

Chlorophyll is probably one of the most important and popular additions to the beauty field. It's no wonder that now it has been coupled with cologne to further insure your summer daintiness.

Lotion or cologne with chlorophyll will keep you cool, help to evaporate perspiration, and relieve tired, aching feet and ankles. Touch it to your temples and the back of your neck and even the distress of a hot weather headache will disappear.

It's nice, too, for after-bath beauty. It stimulates the skin and actually restores freshness. Furthermore, a chlorophyll cologne is delightful as a between-bath pick-up.

Take a bottle with you when you go to the beach. It's an ideal way to keep your skin tingling. Here's something new under the sun, something to help make the summer heat much more bearable. Your personal appearance will benefit, too. You can't help feeling attractive when you know your are fragrantly protected.

If you have chives growing in your backyard you can use them in many dishes during the summer. They're delicious added to creamed cottage cheese, scrambled eggs, or to buttered noodles or elbow macaroni. Try sprinkling them on sliced tomatoes that have been marinated in French dressing; add them, also, to a tossed green salad.

Summer precaution: Wash all fruits and vegetables to be served raw.

Designer Stresses Fashion Needs

These oversize handbags are ideal for travel all Summer and into Fall, too. Equipped with convenient zipper compartments, outer passport pockets, glove pockets, they all have sleek lines. An important bag theme is stressed (upper left) in the block buster, shown here in black patent. It's completely leather-lined, could double as overnight case, too. Roomy bag (lower left) in sturdy llama calf is all-leather lined, has double handles, fastens with secure leather tab closing. A second bag in llama calf (upper center) zips across the top, has big inside compartments, has outer pocket for passport and credentials. Spacious shoulder strap (lower center) has big outer glove pocket, leather lining, big zip compartments. Over-arm bag (upper right) has sleek lines, closing strapped securely through loop of gold metal, lots of big inside pockets. Bag with suitcase look (lower right) is shown here in black calf, opens into two roomy compartments separated by big center pocket. With exception of the two black bags, all bags shown here are in neutral-to-russet shades. Some have built-in spec cases; others contain a pocket to hold a small paper book.

New York —(NEA)— A handbag is handy for carrying things, as every woman knows. But it is also a fashion accessory, just as hats and shoes and gloves are.

In the opinion of Alan, a New York handbag designer, there aren't enough women who wouldn't dream of wearing the same pair of shoes or the same hat day after day will carry the same bag for weeks on end.

"These women," this designer says, "don't realize that they are ruining the total effect of their costumes. Almost the first thing to catch your companion's eye at a luncheon table, for instance, is your handbag. If it's shabby or inappropriate to what you're wearing, you might just as well turn up in a housedress and felt slippers!"

The answer, Alan thinks, is to make women realize that a handsome handbag is not only tonic for other fashions but essential to a well turned-out look.

"Every woman needs a real handbag wardrobe. While she shouldn't attempt to match everything she owns, she should invest in good suit bags, dressy bags, travel bags, at least one cocktail and evening bag."

Further, she should spend time and thought on the handbags she buys. She shouldn't think con-

Fashions With Two-Fold Purpose

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York—(NEA)—This is the point at which most women begin to fill in their summer wardrobes, adding the things they've forgotten when they shopped earlier. Or, they may be choosing fashions for which an unexpected need has suddenly arisen.

Often, the wanted fashion is one with more than one purpose. One that can look right in daytime, look equally right on a summer evening. One that might go from a lazy afternoon in the sun directly to dinner.

Since we have, these days, such innovations as denim sparkling with sequins or studded with nailheads, organza quilted and cut into circular skirts, cotton that looks like tweed—such clothes aren't hard to find. The checked denim by Judy and Jill (right), for instance, tells one story with the matching bolero on and another with it off.

Without the jacket, there's a ruffled bodice that's dressy and feminine, a fine foil for the black-and-white checked skirt. This is a dress for dinner or dancing, for long summer evenings. With the jacket on, this dress can go places in daytime, looking cool and neat. Two for the price of one!

A halter top of broadcloth (left), in the good company of Greta Platry's quilted dimity skirt, makes a lot of fashion sense.

At a party, in the country, on the terrace, at a luncheon or informal dinner, this pair will provide the impetus for compliments. The halter can, in addition, team up with other summer skirts, while the skirt itself can take to other tops.

"Me, too" says Teresa Wright

Trouble Afoot Guard Baby's Foot Health

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Your baby has her own ideas about when she will start to walk. And she'll do a lot better without help.

Most experts agree that the average age for a youngster to take her first steps is about 13 months. But don't become alarmed if your baby continues to crawl happily around until she is 18 months or so. There simply is no set age.

Of course, once your baby does begin to walk, you should immediately give some thought to the type of shoes she will wear. The accepted baby shoes with semi-soft soles are best. Always choose shoes that allow enough toe room, but be careful to see that they aren't big enough to slip off.

Better keep a pretty careful eye on baby's footwear, too, because she will outgrow it before it is scarcely broken in. The usual life of a baby shoe is about two to three months.

Test the length of the shoe by having the baby stand up and then press your thumb nail against the tip of the shoe. If you hit baby's toe immediately, you will know the shoe is too short.

Keep your doctor informed about the baby's walking progress so that he can watch the development of her legs. Often a heavy baby may be inclined to develop bowlegs or weak ankles. If your doctor observes any such tendencies, he can recommend corrective shoes.

Do everything possible to get your baby off to a walking good start. Her future appearance and foot health depend upon it.

ABOUT CAKES

Every cook who bakes cakes or cookies at home should have a rack on which to cool these products when they come out of the oven. A cake cools evenly on a rack and the crust doesn't sweat and peel off as it often does if the cake is cooled on a solid surface. Cooling racks have heavy wire frames shaped at the corners to provide supports that hold the rack a half inch or so above the table. The wires that form the rack may crisscross or they may all run in one direction.

Household Hints

Pie or tart shells usually need ten to twelve minutes of baking in a hot (425°F.) oven.

To prevent pottery casseroles from breakage, protect them from sudden changes in temperature.

Next time you serve cooked green peas try adding a little crisply cooked crumbled bacon to them.

MORGAN - SCOTT HOME BUREAU NEWS

USE NON-FAT DRY MILK TO EASE FOOD BUDGET

Use dry milk and ease some of the strain on your food budget. Dry milk products can help you and your family get enough milk for good health.

You'll find dry milk easy to carry home from market, and it takes little storage space at home. Just compare carrying and storing a pound package to its equal in bottled milk—five quarts.

Non-fat dry milk is found on most markets. It has the same calcium, minerals, B vitamins, natural sugar and high-quality protein that make liquid skim milk such a valuable food. It is easy to figure how much milk each dry milk recipe gives. If you want to make one cup of milk, use one cup of water and three tablespoons of dry milk.

To reconstitute milk powder to one quart fluid milk, place four cups of water in a bowl; sprinkle 1 cup dry milk powder over the water, and mix with a rotary beater until smooth. Use lukewarm water to speed mixing.

For many recipes it isn't necessary to reconstitute milk powder. Just stir it with dry ingredients for cakes and breads. Or stir it into flour for gravies and soups; mix it with corn starch and sugar for puddings.

Dry milk powder will keep for several months on a dry, cool shelf. Be sure it's tightly covered, because dry milk takes up moisture and gets lumpy. If you use refrigerator storage, transfer it to an airtight container. Keep reconstituted milk in the refrigerator if you don't use it.

WATCH THE WEIGHT OF YOUR WASHER LOAD

Use a scale to weigh the clothing you put into your washing machine. Too heavy a load or too many large pieces may be the reason your washers don't get your clothes clean. Chances are that cylinder or agitator-type washers will do the best job with a 7½ or 8 pound load. Nine pounds may overload your washer, even though the direction book gives this amount as the capacity.

A load made up of large and small pieces is most practical and satisfactory for family washings. Combinations of small items also wash well because they can move freely. But a load of sheets, for example, gives trouble. In an agitator washer a load of sheets can't move freely. They billow around the agitators and turn so slowly that only part of the load is washed.

Here is a good variety of pieces for an 8-pound load: Two sheets, two pillowslips, two bath towels, two shirts, two luncheon cloths and about a pound of tea towels or other small items.

HERE'S HOW TO PACK A MAN'S TWO-SUITER

When Dad and Junior are travel bound, you'll want them to look their best. You can see to it that their clothes aren't a mass of wrinkles when they unpack.

Start with the trousers. Place the front of the trouser legs in a straight line across the bottom of the case, the seat toward the handle. Let the legs hang over the side. When packing two or more pairs of trousers, place the first pair with the top to the left, and the legs hanging over the right side. Place the second pair with the top to the right, the legs hanging over the left side.

Put the jacket on the hanger before fastening the hanger in the case. Leave the jacket unbuttoned. Straighten the shoulders and bring the sleeves over until they hang in a straight line. Anchor the center board, but leave the bottom of the jacket hanging over the edge. Hang the second jacket just as you did the first.

Now fold the trouser legs over the suit jackets, first from one side, then from the other. Bring the covering sheet down and fasten.

Pack shoes, shaving articles and other heavy items along the suitcase bottom, and place the shirts on top to avoid wrinkling. Ties and underwear go on top of the shirts. Slip socks, handkerchiefs and odds and ends into any empty spaces.

ELIMINATE EXTRA STEPS IN YOUR HOUSEWORK

Check your daily schedule to see whether you're taking extra steps in your housework. They add up to lost time and energy. Eliminate these extra steps and use the minutes you save for relaxation and family activities.

Perhaps you're taking extra steps when you clean house. Assembling your cleaning materials in one place and keeping them together will eliminate the need for scurrying around to collect them when you're ready to do the job.

Think through the steps you take before you start any homemaking job. Have the equipment you use in a convenient place—easy to see, easy to reach and easy to grasp.

To conserve energy, follow difficult tasks with easy ones. And plan for a rest period during your busy day. While you're doing the baking or while the washer is running, sit down and relax for a few minutes.

You can save both time and energy by planning to have your children play near by. If they know you're in view, there's less likely to call and demand your time.

Plan time for family activities in your daily schedule. An hour or two with your family is just as important as an orderly home and regular meals.

INEXPENSIVE OUTDOOR PLAY EQUIPMENT

If your back yard offers the kind of play equipment children enjoy, they're less likely to play in the street or trespass on the neighbor's property. Here are some suggestions for inexpensive play equipment that groups of children can adapt to different kinds of play.

Since children enjoy movable play equipment, give them large packing boxes and heavy cardboard cartons that can be moved and lifted. The youngsters can make their own cow-boy corrals, caves, hangars and play-houses from big packing boxes.

Building blocks and small boxes are good for marking off forts, rooms, garages, and parking lots.

Children like to climb and get up high. Trees, ladders, sawhorses and planks, and sturdy wooden boxes will give them an opportunity to carry out their ideas in imaginative play.

8-8-BUT OUR NEW HOUSE ISN'T FINISHED YET—WE CAN'T MOVE OUT—WE CAN'T GO—NO PLACE TO GO—THE CONTRACTOR PROMISED IT'D BE READY—BUT—TILL BE A FEW MORE—

LOOK, BUD—IT'S NO SKIN OFF MY NOSE—WHAT YOUR LEAN-TO CONTRACTOR DO OR DIDN'T DO! THIS IS A LEASE EFFECTIVE TODAY! WE'RE MOVING IN AS OF NOW, SAVVY?

AND ALL THE HOTELS ARE FILLED! SOME-THING TELLS ME THE EIGHTBALLS WILL HAVE TO LIVE IN A TREE—

Franklin Music Club Women Hold Their Annual Tea

Franklin—The annual tea of the Franklin Music club was held Tuesday at the Durbin Methodist church in its rural setting west of Franklin. The event was conducted there because of illness in the home of the hostess, Mrs. Milford Rees.

Miss Margaret Camm, president, welcomed the members and guests and introduced the guest talent from Jacksonville and New Berlin. Some 100 were in the audience that heard the program in the auditorium, decorated with baskets of regal lilies, roses, hydrangea blossoms and other garden flowers.

The performers were Mrs. Lucille Chandler, vocalist, and her accompanist, Mrs. Milie Kent, both of Jacksonville; Miss Evelyn Tinsley, a junior at New Berlin high school; and Miss Harriet Loneragan, a graduate of Routh high school in Jacksonville.

Miss Tinsley played the marimba. Readings were presented by Miss Loneragan.

"Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," a marimba selection by Miss Tinsley, was first on the program. Miss Loneragan was next with a reading, "Bobby Shafto." Mrs. Chandler sang "Through the Years," "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

After a second reading, "Grogan's Party" by Miss Loneragan, the familiar notes of "Star Dust" were heard from Miss Tinsley's marimba. The concluding numbers were vocal renditions by Mrs. Chandler, "The Loveliest Night of the Year" and "Always."

The committee which arranged the program was composed of Miss Margaret Camm, Mrs. Anna Ryan, Mrs. Naomi DeRose and Mrs. Addie Doolin.

When the melodies had ceased, Mrs. Rees invited the members and their guests to the decorated church parlors, where Miss Margaret Camm served at the tea table.

The table had been arranged by Mrs. Dorothy Negus, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Grace Davenport, Mrs. Mary Chism, Mrs. Louise Coop, Mrs. Sylvia Strawn and Miss Emma Bergschneider.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, June 21.—(P)—The livestock market was quoted steady today at the end of a week which saw the worst price breaks of the year hit many types of livestock and meat.

In the cattle section, prices were hammered down to the lowest levels since 1950. Steers and heifers closed unevenly $1.00 to $2.00 lower, cows $2.00 to $3.00 lower, bulls $1.00 to $1.50 lower and vealers $3.00 to $4.00 lower. Top was $35.75 for one load of prime beefs.

The agriculture department said "Reasons for the decline in cattle prices, which followed sharp losses in the previous week, were much larger shipments and a slow, declining wholesale trade in dressed beef." Dressed beef here fell $1.00 to $3.00 while veal plunged $2.00 to $6.00.

In the sheep section practically everything lost $2.00 to $3.00 in the sharpest break of the year. Prices of both old and new crop lambs closed at the lowest levels since June, 1950, with sheep the lowest since June, 1947.

The agriculture department said "The drop in live lamb values followed drastic reductions in the wholesale trade on the dressed product. With choice and prime grades of new crop lamb carcasses were no more than $2.00 lower, good grades dropped $12.00 to $13.00 at New York. Sharp losses were posted on old crop lambs and mutton at all points."

Hogs went against the trend, recovering late in the week. Barrows and gilts finished steady to 35 cents higher. But prices on the dressed product tumbled sharply at eastern markets. Loins were reduced $7.00 to $9.00 at New York and $5.50 to $8.50 at Philadelphia. Chicago prices were 50 cents to $3.00 lower.

WHEAT, CORN SLIP ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO—(P)—Major grains eased throughout the session on the Board of Trade today, wheat and corn slipped about one cent. Rye again showed independent firmness, although not matching the previous session's upturn, and a few soybean contracts showed flashes of strength.

Light hedging pressure was enough to sink wheat in the absence of aggressive demand. Receipts at southwestern terminals continued large and were expected to show an even further expansion next week. Large arrivals of cash corn and a promising crop outlook caused selling in that cereal.

In its weekly crop review, the Quaker Oats Company said, "the extreme high temperatures, along with ample moisture, over the major corn producing sections of the country have made for a phenomenal growth. Possibly corn has never been so far advanced at this date."

Receipts were: Wheat 3 cars, corn 126, oats 11, rye none, barley 4, and soybeans 8.

Wheat closed 1-14 lower, July $2.26-$2.29, corn 1-14 lower, July $1.77-$1.78, oats 1-1 lower, July $1.74, rye unchanged to 1 lower, July $2.16, soybeans 14 lower to 4 higher, July $3.26-3, and land unchanged to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $11.62.

Lewis Says Plans Set For '52 Soap Box Derby

Byron Lewis, chairman of the Exchange club's Soap Box Derby committee, announced Saturday morning that plans are set for the 1952 running of the Journal Courier-Cornbelt Chevrolet Soap Box Derby. "We've got everything ironed out and all we're waiting for is July 13," Lewis said.

The big ramp which will be put up at the head of Grove street on Sunday morning, July 13, Derby Day, has been repaired and tested. It will be put up by the voluntary labor of the local carpenters' union. Within a few days the broad white stripe down the center of the street to the intersection of Grove and Westminster will be painted. The stripe separates the north from the south line.

Two lengths of rope will be stretched down either side of the Grove street roadway the morning of the race to keep the thousands who will attend from interfering with the heats.

Expect Thousands

"If it's a bright, clear day there will be throngs," Lewis remarked, and we plan to make it a day of grand entertainment for everybody."

The night before the race the cars, all of which must be at Derby headquarters at Cornbelt Chevrolet, will be inspected by a team of Exchange club experts and the best upholstered car, the car with the best construction, and cars with other categories of excellence will be selected. The announcements of prize winners, however, will not be made until the next day.

The morning of Derby Day the racers will be transported to Grove street roadway, each one painted with the number it will race under. Following is a complete list of the 47 entrants, their numbers and their sponsors. It is the largest field the Recent college graduates and other youths who wish to start fulfilling their military obligation without waiting to be inducted in their regular turn may volunteer for immediate induction through their local boards, according to Colonel Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois Selective Service Director.

Graduates Can Volunteer, Not Wait For Draft

Numerous inquiries are being received at local boards not only from graduating students but also from men who find themselves between jobs and wish to begin their service without delay. Colonel Armstrong said. Volunteer inductees serve only 24 months like other Selective Service inductees and their active duty period cannot be extended under the present law, he pointed out, explaining that this feature of the Selective Service law is not generally understood by most registrants.

Any registrant between 18 and 28 may volunteer by filing an application at his local board office. Seventeen-year-olds may volunteer with the written consent of parents or guardian.

After Run-Around By Dodgers Hermanski Wins Post With Cubs

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent
New York — (NEA) — Husky, hairy-chested Gene Hermanski is the last guy in the world you'd want to compare to a bridegroom. But you know the old one about "always a bridesmaid and never a bride." That's the way it's been with Hermanski and his baseball career—and to including this year with the Chicago Cubs.

They used to play a game each Spring in Brooklyn, where Gene languished four full seasons and part of another. Every young buck up from the bushes became Master Branch Rickey's hand-picked solution to the left field problem in Flatbush.

After two weeks or so of dissolution, back to the hinterlands went the bushier and up from the ranks stepped Hermanski to put the job back on a professional keel.

Eventually, Rickey went off to Pittsburgh and Hermanski, his playmate gone, was quietly shipped to Chicago last June, ticked as a ballplayer who never quite got off the gangplank.

"It seems like I've always been the extra man on the club," nods Gene, "the guy who never landed. It can be pretty miserable sitting in the dugout day after day. Why I never could stand a job in Brooklyn I don't know."

"Take after my great season in 1948. I played 133 games, hit 15 homers and batted .290. So when I got to Spring training in '49, they've got everybody but Adam handling my job. And they must have forgot to exercise his option."

Did wisdom and light prevail after Gene went to Chicago? Not entirely. The season started with square-jawed Gene nursing his chewing gum in the dugout again. But Centerfielder Hal Jeffcoat slumped at the plate, Gene trotted out to right, Frankie Baumholtz switched to center and the Cubs began going up.

Hank Sauer's big bat got all the publicity, but the early statistics of All-Star team votes carried a revealing note—Gene Hermanski was the peoples' "cherch" for right field. He was on the biggest batting spree of his career and for a few elated moments led the league.

"Then, poof, I go 1-for-23," shrugs Gene, "and I'm back down from the clouds."

"What am I doing that's different this year? First, I'm following the ball better as it comes up to the plate and then I'm not swinging as hard as I used to. Maybe I'm improving with age."

Gene's 31. This is the year, he says, he gets over .300.

"I'm due," he vows. "I came awful close a couple of times. .299 in 1949 and .288 in '50. Now let's knock on wood. I got a job I want to keep."

Finally.

Joe Doyle Enters Illinois Amateur Golf Tournament

One hundred twenty-one golfers have entered the 22nd annual Illinois State Amateur Golf Championship to be played at Quincy (Ill.) Country Club, June 24 through 28, sponsored by the Chicago District Golf Association. Harold E. Foreman, Jr. of Chicago will defend the championship. Foreman is the only three-time champion in the history of the tournament, winning in 1944 in Peoria, 1945 in St. Charles and last year at Danville.

Play will open with a 36 hole qualifying round, 18 holes Tuesday (June 24) and 18 holes Wednesday (June 25) to determine the 31 low scorers who will join Foreman in the championship bracket. Two 18 hole matches will be played Thursday (June 26) and Friday (June 27) with the 36 hole finals on Saturday (June 28). There will also be a first and second flight. The club will be open for practice on Monday (June 23).

T. J. Doyle, who will represent the Jacksonville Country Club, is the only local golfer entered in the tournament. Joe finished tenth in the Central Illinois Amateur at Springfield two weeks ago. His steady play is expected to gain him a high niche among the best amateurs in the entire state at Quincy. Doyle will tee off at 11:49 a.m. Tuesday.

Sugar Ray Bids For Third Boxing Title Monday Night

Joe Maxim

IN THIS CORNER—Joe Maxim, left, defends the world light-heavyweight championship against Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight monarch, in a 15-round match at Yankee Stadium, June 23. (NEA)

BY JACK HAND
New York, June 21—(P)—Sugar Ray Robinson steps boldly up to the weight scale Monday night to bid for his third world boxing championship in a 15-round Yankee Stadium title bout with light-heavyweight king Joe Maxim of Cleveland.

In a throwback to the days of Harry Greb and Stanley Ketchel, when fighting men paid little attention to class limits, middleweight Champ Robinson will give away some 16 pounds to pal Joey, a master of the left jab.

If Robinson, former welter king, grabs his third crown he will go into the ring records with Bob Fitzsimmons and Henry Armstrong as the only men to hold three world titles.

Maxim, a standup boxing stylist without a knockout punch, originally was a 7 to 5 favorite but the odds slipped off to 6 to 5 and take your pick after a sparring partner knocked him down in a workout at Grossingers, N. Y. Many think the price will rise again by ringtime with Maxim once more the favorite. However, Robinson, seldom if ever an underdog in 136 bouts, dating back to 1940, was the 11 to 10 choice this morning.

With no home television or radio broadcast, the International Boxing club expects 40,000 fans to pay over $400,000 to watch the "battle of champions," scheduled for 9:00 p.m. (EST). There will be plenty of room for more in the cavernous stadium where over 61,000 saw Sugar Ray regain his middleweight crown from Britain's Randy Turpin last September.

Theater television will carry the fight into some 37 theaters in at least 24 cities, with New York excluded, on a closed circuit. A reported minimum guarantee of $125,000 from the theaters will swell the receipts of the biggest promotion since Robinson-Turpin.

Each fighter will take 30 per cent of the gate, according to the IBC which also has a contract, calling for a rematch within 90 days if Robinson should dethrone Maxim.

Dave Koslo Twirls Giants To 6-2 Win Over Diving Cubs

New York, June 21—(P)—Lefty Dave Koslo turned in a fine relief performance today as the New York Giants defeated Chicago, 6-2, to extend the slumping Cubs' losing streak to seven games.

Koslo came on cold in the second inning after George Spencer, making his first start of the season, developed a blister on his pitching hand.

The veteran blanked the Cubs on five singles until the ninth, when John Pramesa opened the inning with his first home run of the season. Dee Fondy followed with a triple and scored after Randy Jackson fled out.

Three Junior Games At Park

Three junior softball games occupied time at Nichols Park Saturday night.

Gene's Sporting Goods trimmed United Surplus 9-2 in the curtain raiser. Then the Squires pasted Ebenezer 8-4 and Our Saviour's wound up the activity by nipping Lanes Book Store 16-15.

MARTY HAS A DAUGHTER

St. Louis, June 21—(P)—"It looks like we'll have to have female ball players," St. Louis Browns' Manager Marty Marion commented following the birth of his fourth daughter tonight.

The girl, still unnamed, weighed 8 pounds, 2 ounces at St. Louis Maternity hospital. Both the baby and Mrs. Marion were reported in good condition.

Three Top-Flight Matches In Park Golf Meet Today

Three golf matches will be played in the championship flight of the Nichols Park Open this afternoon.

Home Mitchell is paired off with Gary Birdsong. Charles Black meets Spike Wilson and defending champ Floyd Craft is booked to engage Tom Kirkham. All are quarter-final matches.

Jim Buckley, popular former champion, is shooting outstanding golf in the Open. The little guy has vanquished Chick Reynolds and Clarence (Red) Worrall to move into the semi-finals all by himself. Buckley fired a 65 against Reynolds, then turned loose with a brilliant 32-31-63 against the veteran Worrall.

Navy Crew Wins College Regatta

Syracuse, N. Y., June 21—(P)—Navy won the varsity row for a clean sweep of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta on Onondaga lake today.

The powerful varsity oarsmen won their three-mile race by about three lengths over Princeton, with Cornell third. Earlier victories were scored by the Navy junior varsity in its three-mile test and the plebes in the two-mile freshman event.

Powerful American Team Shapes Up For Olympics

Long Beach, Calif., June 21—(P)—Wall Davis, the towering Texan, Harrison Dillard, an Olympic veteran and lean young Wes Santee of Kansas set a brilliant standard today in the National AAU track championships, pointing the way to a powerful American team in the summer games in Helsinki.

Davis jumped 6 feet 10 1/2 inches to set a new meet record, only one half an inch below the world record of Les Steers set in 1941. In second place came Arnold Betton of Drake and Emory Barnes of Oregon, who cleared 6 feet 9 1/2 inches.

Davis tried for a new world record of 6-11 7/16 but missed three times, the first narrowly.

Dillard flashed a convincing comeback to win the 110 meter high hurdles in :13.7, aided by a slight wind. Santee, the 20 year old distance sensation won the 1,500 meters in 3:49.3.

Other highlights of the final tune-up before the Olympic tryouts June 26-28 in Los Angeles were:

Mal Whitfield's defeat of George Rhoden in the 400 meters last night in :46.4.

Parry O'Brien's shot put of 57 feet 4 1/2 inches besting Jim Fuchs, the world record holder.

Andy Stanfield's time of :21.1 in winning the 200 meter.

Babe Parilli Joins All-Stars

Chicago, June 21—(P)—Vito (Babe) Parilli, Kentucky's great quarterback, today joined the roster of all-stars for the 1952 edition of the collegiate-professional football classic.

Parilli climaxed three seasons of stardom for the Blue Grass Wildcats by leading Kentucky to a Cotton Bowl victory over Texas Christian last New Year's Day.

An excellent passer, he is expected to provide all-star counterpunch to the Los Angeles Rams' one-two overhead combination of Bob Waterfield and Van Brocklin in the annual Soldier Field battle Aug. 15.

Earlier today, two University of Arkansas linemen, Fred Williams, tackle, and Bob Griffin, center, were named to the all-star squad.

Williams has signed to play professional football in 1952 with the Chicago Bears. Griffin will be with the Rams, last year's professional football champions.

Big Invitational Softball Tourney Starts Tonight

The fifth annual West Central Invitational softball tournament will get underway at Nichols Park tonight. Two top-flight contests have been booked to get this annual affair underway.

Greenfield will open the tournament in the first game tonight scheduled to get underway at 7 o'clock. The powerful Macomb Moose nine, with Bill Boyer doing the pitching, will duel State Hospital in the 8:30 contest this evening.

In all 16 teams will vie for the big championship trophy.

Two games will be played each night during the seven-day run of the big tournament.

Browns Batter Senators 7-3 With Big 6th

St. Louis, June 21—(P)—The St. Louis Browns, blanked for 19 innings by Washington pitching, including the last 14 innings Friday, erupted for a six-run sixth inning today to defeat the Senators, 7-3.

Ned Garver, wilder than usual but effective in the clutch, picked up his third successive victory to make his season record 5-6. He allowed seven hits, but had a four-hitter going until the Senators bunched their singles for their final run in the ninth.

St. Louis, meanwhile, tagged starter and loser Walt Masterson and reliever Don Johnson for eight hits, including Dick Kryhoski's sixth home run of the year.

Kryhoski's homer, good for two runs, combined with Jim Rivera's triple and a bases loaded single by Garver to feature the big sixth.

By Innings:
Washington 000 010 011—3 7 0
St. Louis 000 006 01x—7 3 0
Masterson, Johnson (6) and Grasso; Garver and Johnson. LP—Masterson. HR: St. L.—Kryhoski.

Women's Western Crown To Rawls

Chicago, June 21—(P)—Golf's best current gal money-player, Betty Rawls, indeed proved that today by erasing a 3-hole lead and surging ahead for the first time at the 33rd for a one-up, 36-hole victory over Betty Jamerson to capture her first Women's Western Open title.

Miss Rawls, grabbing the $1,000 winner's check to boost her 1952 earnings over $10,000 was a meek player for 27 holes as Miss Jamerson, 1942 champion, thrice held a 3-hole lead in their all-Texas scrap.

Violent Storms Force PGA Golf Postponement

Louisville, June 21—(P)—A series of violent thunderstorms, bringing gusty winds and drenching rains, added to the "debacle of Big Spring" today and forced the first postponement in the PGA golf championship in 12 years.

Still staggering from the first day carnage which saw elimination of champion Sam Snead, medalist Dutch Harrison and a host of other big name stars, the tournament committee found it necessary to put off third round matches until Sunday.

Sixteen survivors, half of them little known pros who emerged in yesterday's rebellion of the underdogs, will tee off, starting at 9 a.m. (CDT), in quest of quarter-final berths.

The storm struck early last night and continued, almost unabated, until mid-morning. A tremendous oak near the 18th green was split by wind and some water puddles were as big as the course swimming pool.

Specialist Gives Tips For State Fishermen

Springfield, June 21—(P)—These are fishing forecasts which put a natural History Survey scientist out on a limb like cane pole suspended over Lake Chautauqua at Havana.

Dr. William C. Starrett scans the future of the lake he has studied for the last three years and predicts:

1. Crappie you catch next fall should average at least three-quarters a pound apiece. This spring's excellent crappie hauls are due to decline until autumn.

2. Chautauqua's best fishing this summer will be with worms for bluegills.

3. If a good rise in water occurs, drum and catfish will snap at your offerings eagerly both during the boosting of the level and as long as it stays up.

Worked 3 Years
"I don't have the slightest idea why this happens but it has worked for three years," Starrett says.

Starrett is an aquatic biologist in charge of the fisheries study at the lake. The study is sponsored by the survey, The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the State Conservation Department.

Here are some other Chautauqua tips he offers:

During summer, go after white bass "a true bass and a wonderful fighting fish" with any ammunition you've got.

Look for "boils." These are turbulent water patches caused by the bass sweeping near the surface for minnows.

"Cast right into the boil," Starrett recommends, "particularly with minnows, streamers or spinners."

Spring Best Time
Starrett endorses most strongly his prediction he'll make it any year that you'll do the best fishing during spring.

Most of the Chautauqua anglers used cane poles with worms and minnows this May and caught 14,826 fish. Fifty per cent of these were crappie and most of them averaged 10 inches in length. Bluegills ran second best.

Another true bass, the yellow variety called "streaker," responded best to anglers' wiles from April 14 to 27, Starrett's records show.

Vinegar Bend Blanks Braves 9-0 For Redbirds

Boston, June 21—(P)—Rookie Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell gained his first major league shutout for the St. Louis Cardinals today with a masterful four-hit pitching performance that blanked the Boston Braves, 9-0.

Mizell totaled 11 strikeouts while giving up six bases on balls. But the only Tribesman to connect solidly against him was Sid Gordon, who had a double and a single.

The Cards backed Mizell, who now has a 2-5 record, with 12-hit attack against Boston pitchers Maz Surkont, Bob Chipman and Sheldon Jones. Red Schoendienst knocked in four of the runs with a two-bagger and a pair of singles.

By Innings:
St. Louis 101 000 421—9 12 0
Boston 000 000 000—0 4 0
Mizell and Fusselman; Surkont, Chipman (7), Jones (8) and Burris. LP—Surkont.

Don Lipceman Wins Gem City Feature; Sonny Gross 2nd

Quincy—(Special)—Sonny Gross of Quincy was defeated Saturday night in the feature stock car race on the Gem City Speedway by Don Lipceman of Winchester. The winner overtook Gross on the last half of the last lap in the 40-lap feature.

Gross came in second. Johnny Joy of Quincy, driving the familiar #22 in place of Earl Setser of Jacksonville, finished fifth in the feature event.

Russell Gross, father of Sonny, took a bad spill. His stock car rolled over four times, was practically demolished. The elder Gross was uninjured.

Dick Vance's safety belt broke when his car overturned. The Palmira driver was severely shaken up.

DOUBLE TROUBLE—Hal, left, and Stan Charnofsky study a Yankee handbook after signing with the New York Americans' Binghamton branch. Identical twins, they played shortstop and second base, respectively, for the University of Southern California. They made 56 double plays in 50 games the past season. (NEA)

PLATOON—The Yankees now even sign them in pairs. The World Champions landed Hal, left, and Stan Charnofsky, identical twins, for their Binghamton branch. The likely youngsters played shortstop and second base, respectively, for the University of Southern California, made 56 double plays in 50 — (NEA)

WATCH ON THE LINE—Cardinal Catcher Del Rice and Pitcher Joe Presko join Umpire Artie Gore following Jackie Robinson's bunt down the third base line in Brooklyn. It went for a hit. (NEA)

INSULT TO INJURY—With two out in the first inning, Bobby Thomson tripled for the Giants at the Polo Grounds. Thomson streaked for the plate with the second pitch to Bob Elliott. The Reds didn't take kindly to Augie Donatelli's decision, but the run counted and the New York Nationals were off to another victory. (NEA)

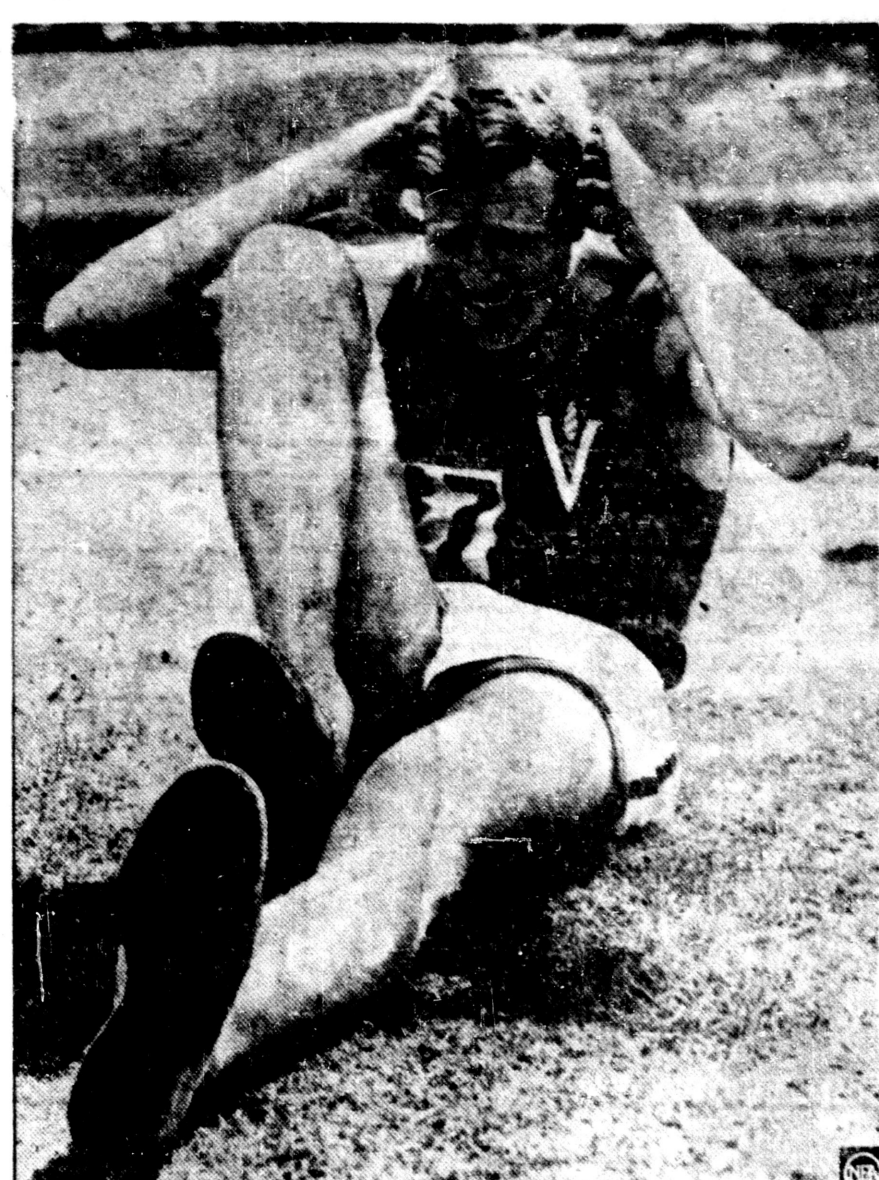

STRONG STAN—Stan Stanczyk keeps in trim for the upcoming United States Olympic tryouts by pressing a few bars at Miami. The husky muscle man was the 1948 light heavy weight-lifting champion. (NEA)

JOLLY CHOLLY—Popular Charlie Grimm, who replaced Tommy Holmes at the Boston helm, is a one-man circus coaching at third base. Braves' base runners have little trouble hearing the former Milwaukee generalissimo with the "fog-horn" voice. (NEA)

CAP'S OFF—Hank Thompson, Giants' center fielder, ran right out from under his hat moving swiftly to make a back-handed shoestring stab of a low liner at Polo Grounds. (NEA)

WARMING UP—Don MacMillan strains his leg muscles and grimaces doing sitting-up exercises at London's Paddington Recreation Field. He's a half-miler on the Australian Olympic Games team. (NEA)

ON GUARD—Solly Hemus of the Cardinals had his guard up against Alvin Dark's knee, crashing into the Giants' shortstop as he was forced at second on Red Schoendienst's tap to Dave Koso. Note the ball whizzing over and past the St. Louis shortstop's shoulder enroute to First Baseman Whitey Lockman to complete the double play. (NEA)

BONUS BEAUTY—Harvey Kuehn, one of the most sought college players in recent years, traded a remaining year of college eligibility for $55,000. The Detroit Tiger prize led the Big Ten in batting this past season with a .444 average. (NEA)

RAZZBERRA—Yogi Berra, a man of a few million well-chosen words, obviously didn't like the way Art Passarella was calling balls and strikes—and told him so. The umpire didn't appear to hear a word the Yankees' catcher said. (NEA)

STRETCHING IT—Surrounded, Johnny Wyrostek of the Phillies shied away as two other non-professional nuisances fell out of the Shibe Park stands in an effort to retrieve a foul ball hit by a Giant. (NEA)

DEEP THINKER—Leo Ecker, the vociferous Giants' manager, was caught in one of his rare quiet, thoughtful moments during a game at the Polo Grounds. No doubt he would have been a great pitcher just as long as he lived. (NEA)

SMOOTH—Texas A. and M.'s Buddy Davis, taking no chances even in practice, smooths the take-off area in front of the high-jumping pit at College Station. (NEA)

HOLMES BACK HOME—Chuck Dressen, Dodger generalissimo, went over ground rules at Ebbets Field with Brooklyn-born Tommy Holmes shortly after the disposed Braves' pilot was signed as a pinch-hitter and utility outfielder by the Bums. (NEA)

Death in the Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

XII
WITH Sergeant Duncan entering with me, no explanation was required for my absence from the lodge. Duncan disappeared after that and Dr. David Roberts told me that Duncan had set a guard at both entrances to the cave to protect Mrs. Ordell.

Only the hermit would be permitted to enter the cave. This seemed strange to me. Why didn't they move poor Mrs. Ordell back to the lodge and safety? It seemed terrible to let the professor, her husband, go on grieving.

It was not quite noon, but the musical jangle of the dinner bell came pleasantly from the kitchen.
Rhumba came waddling toward the lodge, striking an iron rod on the triangle as she walked.

"I've got to talk to Dr. Roberts," she said.
"Rhumba," said florid Mr. James,
"whatever you have to say to Dr.
Roberts can be postponed till later."

"No, it can't, Mr. James. I've got to talk to him now."
"Rhumba," Mr. James wheezed angrily, "go back to the kitchen or you'll be fired."

"Fire away, Mr. James. I can go to work at Fallen Leaf Lake anytime I want." Rolling her eyes angrily, she caught David by the arm and propelled him toward the fireplace. Duncan followed and I, not wanting to miss anything, came along.

"This ain't for you all," Rhumba
said emphatically, eyeing Sergeant Duncan and me.
"You can talk freely in front of
Sergeant Duncan and Miss Curtis, Rhumba," said Dr. Roberts.
Rhumba sniffed, then said, "I know who's the murderer. She paused as we held our breath. "But I ain't tellin'."

"But why did you tell me even
this much?" asked David.
"Because you're a G-man. I heard Mr. Marguard talkin' to you about it, Sergeant." Duncan set
his mouth in a thin line and glared
at the cook.

Here, then, was what David had
started to tell me in the tent.
"Yes, Rhumba, I'm a federal investigator. I didn't come to Gold
Lake to solve a murder mystery,
but since I'm here, I'm helping.
And if you know anything, I'm sure you understand that you must
help too."

"Mr. James killed Mrs. Ordell.
I saw him run from the Ordell tent
just before she screamed. He told me he was openin' sugar for me,
but he went to the Ordell tent after
that. And what's more, he put white powder on a slab of meat
that looked mighty like the meat
you found in your tent, Miss Curtis. Mr. James is a no-account
man, I tell you."

Dr. Roberts looked at the sergeant. I thought I detected a wink. Then the doctor turned back to Rhumba and said, "Thanks
for telling us this. We'll see if we can follow it up."

JEFF and Dick and old Pete Du-
ffes brought up a string of
horses to the door of the lodge.
Duncan asked Jeff, Ordell, Miss
Hansen, David Roberts and me to mount. I heard him give orders to Marguard to find James and to hold him.

Dr. Roberts rode beside me. He smiled at me reassuringly and,
leaning from his saddle, he said in a low voice, "See if you can find
the three trees. I believe I know
where they are."

Sergeant Duncan beckoned Or-
dell to ride beside him and the professor jogged up to the head of the procession. David said that both Duncan and the professor thought
they knew where the trees stood.

I wondered how Duncan explained to the professor how he gained his information about the map.
It seemed that Miss Hansen and

Rhumba sniffed, then said, "I know who's the murderer. She paused as we held our breath. "But
I ain't tellin'."

"But why did you tell me even
this much?" asked David.
"Because you're a G-man. I heard Mr. Marguard talkin' to you
about it, Sergeant." Duncan set
his mouth in a thin line and glared
at the cook.

Here, then, was what David had
started to tell me in the tent.
"Yes, Rhumba, I'm a federal investigator. I didn't come to Gold
Lake to solve a murder mystery,
but since I'm here, I'm helping.
And if you know anything, I'm sure you understand that you must
help too."

"Mr. James killed Mrs. Ordell.
I saw him run from the Ordell tent
just before she screamed. He told me he was openin' sugar for me,
but he went to the Ordell tent after
that. And what's more, he put
white powder on a slab of meat
that looked mighty like the meat
you found in your tent, Miss Curtis. Mr. James is a no-account
man, I tell you."

Dr. Roberts looked at the sergeant. I thought I detected a wink. Then the doctor turned
back to Rhumba and said, "Thanks
for telling us this. We'll see if we can follow it up."

JEFF and Dick and old Pete Du-
ffes brought up a string of
horses to the door of the lodge.
Duncan asked Jeff, Ordell, Miss
Hansen, David Roberts and me to mount. I heard him give orders to Marguard to find James and to hold him.

Dr. Roberts rode beside me. He smiled at me reassuringly and,
leaning from his saddle, he said in
a low voice, "See if you can find
the three trees. I believe I know
where they are."

Sergeant Duncan beckoned Or-
dell to ride beside him and the professor jogged up to the head of the procession. David said that both
Duncan and the professor thought
they knew where the trees stood.

I wondered how Duncan explained to the professor how he gained his information about the
map.
It seemed that Miss Hansen and

Morgan Police Catch One Of Three Men Wanted For Robbery

A manacled man who said he was from Brooklyn was leading county and city officials around early Sunday morning in a quest for a discarded automatic pistol.

At the same time a search was going on for two of his companions who are charged with armed robbery, in Beardstown and Virginia, Ill., and probably in Clinton, Iowa.

The prisoner, Leonard Robert Trinnell of Brooklyn, 32, was found near the cow barn of the state hospital and arrested there by
